BRIGHT FUTURES FARM EQUINE CHARITY RECEIVES MEDICAL CARE GRANT THROUGH BRENNAN EQUINE WELFARE FUND (BEWF)

Bright Futures Farm equine charity (BFF) was established in 2000 to help ex-racehorses, in particular, find new homes and new careers after they are done racing. In 2005 we expanded our work to include providing sanctuary to permanently disabled and elder horses, including elder stallions. BFF currently provides permanent sanctuary, on site, to twelve horses.

Catch This T (T) is a permanently disabled Thoroughbred gelding that was involved in a vehicle accident in 1999. The accident left him with little cartilage in one stifle and moderate neuropathy. In order to maintain pasture soundness, he is on a supplement, and receives regular massage, chiropractic care and acupuncture. Over the years his symptoms have varied from moderate to significant. Thankfully, we are always able to manage his condition with regular treatments which are funded, in part, by a grant from Brennan Equine Welfare Fund of The Greater Cincinnati Foundation. "We are honored and grateful to BEWF for providing funding to help with T's ongoing treatment. This level of care would not be possible without the support of Brennan Equine Welfare Fund and individual sponsors.

BEWF serves equine rescue shelters across the country which provide dignity to final years of aged, injured, abused, starved and slaughter-bound horses, as well as those used in medical experimentation. This fund supports registered, 501(c)(3) organizations that specialize in retirement and rehabilitation services and offer a peaceful and permanent sanctuary for these beautiful animals.

Bright Futures Farm rescues Thoroughbred horses from auctions, abuse and neglect then rehabilitates and retrains them, eventually finding them pre-screened, qualified adoptive homes in the Eastern United States, and provides permanent sanctuary to a number of elder or disabled equines.
